About This Book

It is May 1912, one month after the horrific sinking of the Titanic, and twelve-year-old survivor Dorothy Wilton is sent home from school in disgrace when she strikes another student. Although she's expelled, her sympathetic teacher encourages Dorothy to write an account of her experience on the ship, with the hopes that it will help Dorothy come to terms with her trauma.

Dorothy writes about visiting her bohemian grandparents in England before setting sail back home to Halifax. While on the ship she experiences the luxurious rooms and cabins on board, she makes a new friend, and observes some very intriguing people. However, amidst all of Dorothy's wonderfully engaging stories lurks a shadow, a secret Dorothy is too traumatized to acknowledge — a secret about her own actions on that fatal night, which may have had deadly consequences.
